

BIO

It began as a few afternoon guitar jam sessions for Ken and Evan in the spring of 2001. What was intended to be a weekend hobby quickly became something more when the idea was suggested that these jam sessions be expanded. A few weeks later, Left On Sunset was born. These sessions were a way for four guys to indulge their love of playing live music.

The only thing that overshadowed their passion for music was their desire to share it with others. After honing their skills with several gigs at a local bar, the band's desire for other opportunities continued to grow, and Left On Sunset is not one to pass up an opportunity. From staples at Summerfest since 2005, The Wisconsin State Fair, and other summer festivals to the growing list of local bars like The Milwaukee Ale House, and Kelly's Bleachers these guys are always looking for a willing crowd to share their passion with. Starting in 2017 they even play at Tin Roof Broadway in Nashville, TN twice a year!

The songs of Left On Sunset covers run the gamut from rock to punk to country, and all things in between. Bands like Bon Jovi, Tom Petty, Green Day, the Goo Goo Dolls, Journey, Maroon 5, Fun and the The Killers all make their way into their sets.

Known for their wide variety of cover songs and their energetic stage show, Left On Sunset has entertained people of all ages and musical appreciations. From the local music scene to Summerfest, Left on Sunset has continued to expand their musical horizons, meeting new people, and making new fans and friends along the way. For those about to rock, "We Salute You!"
